

Meet Megan Bell: A New Face at JAXChamber

After two years working at Publix, Megan recently began working part-time as an Operations Assistant for JAXChamber.

Megan is responsible for arranging boardrooms for company meetings, assembling new membership welcome packets and greeting and engaging Chamber members. Megan's strong work ethic and bubbly personality are a perfect fit for her position, and her co-workers speak highly of the value that she adds to the Chamber family.

Congratulations Megan!

Employee of the Year: Eric Pagan

Congratulations to Eric Pagan, The Arc Jacksonville's 2015-2016 Employee of the Year. Throughout this past year, Eric has had tremendous professional growth. He was promoted to Program Assistant and has taken on many new and varied responsibilities.

Eric is a team player and sets a great example for his coworkers. His energy and positive attitude are contagious.

He especially enjoys interacting with program participants and assisting those who have difficulty communicating their needs. Eric makes sure that everyone feels involved and enjoys what they are doing.

In addition to his regular duties, Eric is always willing to help with whatever needs to be done. Whether fixing computers or preparing for special events, he is always the first to volunteer his assistance.

Although Eric was initially shocked, he was happy and proud he earned the award.

"When I heard the nice things being read about me, I was honestly touched," Eric said. "Receiving this award has been my greatest accomplishment so far."

Eric says that working at The Arc Jacksonville has changed his life. What started as a job to earn a paycheck has become a passion for working with adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities. Eric looks forward to continuing to grow in his career with The Arc Jacksonville.
